

In case of a pastoral emergency, please call the church and leave a message. Messages are checked daily, and someone will get back with you. Please tell the office of any pastoral emergency as soon as possible. Fr. Stephen Secaur may be contacted directly at 440-541-8359 or by email at FrStephen.saintbartohio@gmail.com.

LOOKING AHEAD:

TODAY: Community Meal from 4 - 6 pm. Sign-up sheet on bulletin board by the kitchen. Help is needed.

TODAY: Jim, Tabatha & Maxwell would like to invite the congregation to a light lunch following the 10:30 service.
Please join us in celebrating Max's baptism! Thanks!

November 25: Celebrate Thanksgiving in the Church, Holy Eucharist with hymns of the season will be held Wednesday at 7:00 pm. Start your holiday by thanking God for all of your blessings.

St. Luke's West Side Ministry: We will be filling backpacks or duffle bags again this year for St. Luke's. Please refer to the "Stocking Stuffer Lists" provided in your announcement for ideas of items to fill the bags. The bags need to be at the church no later than Thursday, December 10th. If you have any questions please contact Molly Duffy: 216 973 6734.

NOTE:

All parishioners should turn in pledge cards as soon as possible so Vestry and Finance will have time to make up a budget for Calendar Year 2016.
Thanks for your cooperation!

THE BAPTISM BANNER

All four Gospel accounts refer to the baptism of Jesus by John at the Jordan river (Matthew 3:16; Mark 1:10; Luke 3:22; John 1:32). The Luke account says "And the Holy Spirit came down in a bodily shape, like a dove on Him."

The lamb is an emblem of patience, meekness, and gentleness. Because of this, as John saw Jesus approaching, he said, "Behold, The Lamb of God who takes away the sins of the world." (John 1:29). Jesus is the true Lamb, required and appointed by God.

The seashell or scallop is a symbol for Christian baptism or the baptism of Jesus. It is also a symbol for pilgrimage and the spread of the Gospel to the world.

"Arise and be baptized and wash away thy sins calling on the name of The Lord".

THE LAST SUNDAY AFTER PENTECOST

22 November 2015

Welcome! Please enter the nave quietly and reverently as there may be people already in prayer and contemplation.

Thank you for worshiping with us today. Your presence is important to all of us. If you are just passing through, we wish you Godspeed on your travels and hope that you will join us whenever you return. If you live in this area and are new to this parish, we welcome you and invite you to make Saint Bartholomew your church home. If you are a long-time member who has been gone for a while, welcome home--we've missed you! And if you are a member of this parish who generally shows up every week, thank you for your commitment to our parish family--well done, good and faithful servant!

About Today's Lessons

Today is the final Sunday of the church year. Through the year the liturgy unfolds, Sunday by Sunday, the full story of God's redemption in Jesus' earthly life, his ministry, his death, resurrection and ascension, his sending the Holy Spirit, and then, in the past several months, his teaching. Now, on this final Sunday, all of this is summed up, and we celebrate the universal rule of Christ over all creation.

The Gospel reading, from John's account of the Passion of Jesus, recalls that it was not through power but through the self-giving love of Jesus as he endured his passion and death that he was revealed as Messiah and King.

The first reading gives the last words of King David. As he dies, he is given a prophet's vision. His word is that from his descendants will come the great and ultimate ruler of the people of God. Christians in the first generation understood this to be a foretelling of the reign of Christ over the universe.

We end the liturgical year today gathered to contemplate the End which is to come, when Christ will be revealed as King, as the ruler of all things. Even now, as we gather, week by week, in the Eucharist, our liturgy reveals a foretaste of the reign of Christ that is to come.

| Thank you for worshiping with us today. Your presence is important to all of us. If you are just passing through, we wish you Godspeed on your travels and hope that you will join us whenever you return. If you live in this area and are new to this parish, we welcome you and invite you to make Saint Bartholomew your church home. If you are a long-time member who has been gone for a while, welcome home--we've missed you! And if you are a member of our parish family--well done, good every week, thank you for your commitment to the parish! |                  |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |

| Today is the final Sunday of the church year. Through the year the liturgy unfolds, Sunday by Sunday, the full story of God's redemption in Jesus, earthly life, his ministry, his death, resurrection and ascension, his sending the Holy Spirit, and then, in the past several months, his teaching. Now, on this final Sunday, all of this is summed up, and we celebrate the universal rule of Christ over all creation.                                                                                                                                  |                  |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |

| The first reading gives the last words of King David. As he dies, he is given a prophet's vision. His word is that from his descendants will come the great and ultimate ruler of the people of God. Christians in the first generation understood this to be a foretelling of the reign of Christ over the universe.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |                  |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |

| We end the liturgical year today gathered to contemplate the End which is to come, when Christ will be revealed as King, as the ruler of all things. Even now, as we gather, week by week, in the Eucharist, our liturgy reveals a foretaste of the reign of Christ that is to come.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |                  |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |

How to use the Daily Office: For each day, the Psalms are split into AM (morning) and PM (evening) readings by the "&" You may read them this way or together at one time. Optional readings are in [brackets]. Below the Psalms you have an Old Testament, New Testament, and Gospel reading for each day. The entire Bible can be read in two years following this format from the Book of Common Prayer.
